FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

COURTROOM CONNECT, INC ACQUIRES AUDIOCASEFILES, LLC

Atlanta, GA-- Provider of advanced communication services, Courtroom Connect, Inc., announced today that it has acquired Audio Case Files, LLC. The acquisition will combine the video and courtroom technology products of Courtroom Connect with Audio Case File's growing library of audio opinions.

"Audio Case Files has created an innovative multimedia offering that has been embraced by the law school community," said Louis Goldberg, chief operating officer of Courtroom Connect. "Audio Case Files' expertise in case law and digital audio is a perfect compliment to Courtroom Connect's expertise in litigation and video."

Courtroom Connect will incorporate Audio Case Files' content to bolster an academic offering. Courtroom Connect captures courtroom proceedings and enables subscribers to view video of a trial along with digital snapshots of the evidence presented at court. This service has traditionally been available for legal and business professionals to aid in trial preparation. With the addition of Audio Case Files, Courtroom Connect will target the academic market, providing access to video archives of proceedings and access to hundreds of audio opinions.

In addition to expanding Courtroom Connect's content offering, the Audio Case Files acquisition is intended to help strengthen the management team. Stephen Svajian, Audio Case Files President, and James Patterson, Audio Case Files' CTO, will join Courtroom Connect's senior management team.

Courtroom Connect is the leading provider of digital video and audio products and services in the legal community. In addition to recording and streaming prominent courtroom proceedings and professional recording audio legal opinions, the company also provides advanced communication services to the legal industry. These services include offering Internet, video conferencing, and streaming products for office and the courtroom.
